

Garlock
Gasket style 9900

We have now two gasket material style 9900 at stock. The Garlock style 9900 with new logo made in colour „mahogany“ and the style 9900TI with new logo made in colour grey.

This situation create question on the customer side. The customer assumed that this is not the same material. One is specified as 9900TI and the other is 9900 and the colour of the sheets is different.

Please standardize the logo to 9900 without the “TI” and remain by one colour.
Are all production plants unified in colour and brand?
